

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

In this course you will learn to use theatre skills that adds impact and authenticity to your communication as a group leader.

The first step is to realise that you generate a feeling in the people you lead. That feeling can be either helpful or not.

In this course you will learn to apply theatre skills to optimise the feeling you generate and aim for more effective interaction. You will learn to optimise your performance as a group leader in various communication settings ranging from addressing the group as a whole, one to one conversations and bringing difficult messages.

You will experiment in a role play setting to make sure you get most out of the communication as a group leader. In this setting you will also play the role of the group member, making you able to experience the effect of different styles. To be able to review your own performance as a leader you will be recorded on video.

All in all you will learn to:

1. induce feelings in your group that helps
2. avoid sending ineffective signals
3. develop styles for various interaction settings
4. communicate every message more convincingly
5. make your people feel that they are heard
